How Hawaii Became a US Territory

Thursday Mornings In-Person; 8 weeks

Facilitator: David Lippman

Books/Materials/Supplies: Required - Sarah Vowell, Unfamiliar Fishes, Riverhead Books (Penguin) 2011

Weekly Topics

Until the arrival of Captain Cook in 1778, Hawaiians lived in isolation from Europeans and Western influences. One hundred twenty years later, the Hawaiian Islands became a territory of the United States. This course will take a close look at the transformation - the Americanization of Hawaii.

We will use Sarah Vowell's book, Unfamiliar Fishes, as the core text. This short, quirky, sometimes humorous, frequently outraged account of Hawaii's history will be supplemented by videos and a few additional readings.

Session 1 – Hawaii before Western discovery; the settlement by Polynesians; the native culture; Captain Cook's "discovery" of the islands.

Session 2 – Kamehameha conquers (unites) the Hawaiian Islands and forms the Kingdom of Hawaii; Henry Obookiah's journey from Hawaii to New Haven; the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions formed; the Foreign Mission School.

Vowell, Pages 1- 40

Session 3 – Project to bring missions to Hawaii spearheaded by Hiram Bingham and Asa Thurston; missionaries' voyage to Hawaii; Kamehameha's death; the end of the Kapu system.

Vowell, Pages 40 - 65

Session 4 – Missionaries begin preaching to Hawaiians; missionaries spread out to new locations; Macedonian call; daily life of missionaries; King's court moves to Honolulu; Hawaiian alphabet and written language.

Vowell, Pages 65 - 102

Session 5 – The whaling industry; conflicts between whalers and missionaries; Dolphin incident; Kamehameha II dies of measles; epidemics diminish native population; the two worlds of Hawaiian royalty; last royal sibling marriage.

Vowell, Pages 102 - 132

Session 6 – Missionaries force separation of Kamehameha III and his sister wife; she is excommunicated; the Lahainaluna School and spread of literacy; Chief's Children's School and Punahou founded; Hawaiians draft constitution; Hawaii faces aggression from U.S., Britain, and France; land reform and private property; foreigners buy majority of Hawaiian land.

Vowell, Pages 132 – 170

Session 7 – Sugar industry takes off due to U.S. Civil War and formation of large plantations; importation of foreign workers; continued epidemics reduce native population; death of last in Kamehameha line leads to feud over monarchy; planters accumulate wealth and power; Reciprocity Agreement negotiated with U.S.; new (Bayonet) constitution forced on Hawaii.

Vowell, Pages 170 - 204

Session 8 – Liliuokalani becomes queen; "Committee of Safety" deposes queen; U.S. troops support coup; new Republic of Hawaii asks to be annexed by U.S.; Spanish-American War pushes American opinion in favor of annexation; Hawaii becomes U.S. territory.
